The Circulating Library, IS now arranged, and the public patronage sol- icited. It has been commenced upon a small scale, but it is intended to add to it, every new and interesting Work, as soon as possible after its ap- pearance at the North.

E. J. HALE. April 15.

Books and Stationary. THE Subscriber is now receiving a large stock of Miscellaneous, Medical, Law, School, and Blank Books; Gilt and perfumed Letter and note Paper, Laid, vellum and plain Letter and Cap Pa- pers, Fine Cutlery, Prints, Piano Music, &c. &c., selected by himself in New York and Philadelphia, which he will sell low; many articles he believes at a lower price than they can be had at any Book Store in the State. Country Merchants will be supplied at reasonable prices.

In offering to the public a larger stock of Books than has been seen in Fayetteville for many years, the subscriber confidently anticipates an increase of that liberal patronage which the public have extended to a respectable establishment of this kind in the chief commercial Town of North Carolina. No exertion will be spared to make it worthy of that patronage.

E. J. HALE. April 8.

Circulating Library. THE Subscriber is arranging a few hundred volumes for the purpose of opening a Circulating Library, at his Book Store. Among the works are, a complete set of Harper's Family Li- brary, in 53 vols., Harper's Classical Library in 6 vols., Library of Select Novels in 30 vols., Pel- ham Novels in 10 vols., &c.

Revolutionary Pensioners. THE Subscriber gives notice that he is willing to be employed to act as ATTORNEY for such Revolutionary Pensioners as may find it incon- venient to attend personally at the Bank of the United States, at Fayetteville, to draw their Pen- sions; that he will remit their money to whoever they may direct, by mail or otherwise, but always at their risk. He will also attend to the renewal of Notes at either of the Banks in this place, for such persons as may think proper to employ him, all upon moderate terms, but remittances of money must always be at the risk in the persons employ- ing him, and all letters addressed to him on these subjects must be post paid. Forms of the Power of Attorney, &c. necessary to draw Pensions will be furnished if applied for, by DUNCAN MAC RAE. Fayetteville, Feb. 18, 1833. 20-cowf.

The Editors of the different newspapers in this State, would perhaps confer a favor on the old Pensioners by giving them this information.

Extract of a Letter, dated Macon, 23d inst.—"Our stock of Cotton is very much reduced, being only 800 a 1000 bales; and there is not in the interior, to be brought to this market, exceeding 3000 bales. Our re- ceipts will fall short of those of the preced- ing year about 20,000 bales. The prospects of the planter are now indeed very gloomy."

Fire at Portsmouth, Ohio.—We learn there has been lately a very destructive Fire at Portsmouth, Ohio. Twelve large stores were burnt, with which much moveable property. Portsmouth is situated on the Ohio, at the mouth of the Sciota, where the great Ohio Canal enters the river of the same name.

From the Salem (Mass.) Register. TEMPERANCE TRIUMPHANT. Mr. Editor.—You and all true friends of Temperance, will rejoice to hear the fol- lowing glorious news from "the Plymouth Rock," and especially from our good old friend, Daniel Frost jun. Esq. I venture to make a few extracts from a letter which I have just received from Mr. Frost.

Sincerely yours, J. P. C. Salem, April 6.

"March 28. Attended and addressed the annual meeting of the Plymouth County Tem- perance Society. An able report was read by Rev. F. Freeman, Secretary. 29th, Com- menced the regular work of my agency in Rev. Dr. Kendall's Unitarian meeting house. Persuaded them to carry round 'the papers' at the close of the address. They brought up two hundred names, at which they were as- tonished and rejoiced. Next evening, the pa- per went round again, and two hundred and twenty-five names were handed in. Sabbath evening, 31st.—Had a great meeting at Mr. Freeman's church, and took up three hun- dred and ten names."

Now, Mr. Editor, I must just stop to ask, if this was not a splendid result from such a vil- lage as Plymouth. The whole town contains less than 5000 inhabitants, and there are two or three parishes not connected with the vil- lage. Seven hundred and thirty five names pledged to Total Abstinence on three even- ings, in that one village, is surely, a harvest worth recording. But mark what follows. "Four of the principal retailers signed the pledge, and every retailer in the village has agreed to sell no more as a drink, when their present stock is gone—One sent off his casks on Saturday, having no more use for them. Another on Monday." Better yet.

"On Tuesday I was told that there had been no distilled liquor sold since my second lecture." "Saturday night the drink- ers came as usual, with their bottles, AND WERE ALL REFUSED!" Noble exam- ple! A decision fit to be engraved in cap- ital at every corner of their village. Tem- perance, thorough-going Temperance, like Mercy, "is twice blessed. It blesseth him that gives, and him that takes." An instance, Mr. Frost says, he was "informed that last week, a woman living at Plymouth, who had an intemperate husband, remarked, that her husband heretofore had always procured rum on Saturday, drank it on Sunday, and made her and the family unhappy. But that last Saturday he could get none, and that she had not seen so peaceful and happy a Sabbath these two years." How many other fami- lies were blessed by the firmness of the retai- lers in determining that all things are re- voked. Mr. Frost adds, "I have never known so complete a triumph. Let God be praised."

The following beautiful specimen of that species of rhetoric called rigmarole, occurs in a speech delivered by Mr. Clayton of Georgia, on the Collection bill.

"Go with me, Mr. Speaker, to the scene of action, and let me present you the pictures which are furnished by the materials of this case. General Jackson girds on his dagger, and with cool and deliberate step marches to the peaceful plains of Carolina! He seizes the first man he meets, and exerting the whole strength of a great Government, he throttles him, and with a strangling gripe of Hercules, chokes him to the earth."

We know of nothing to equal this except the description given by the man in Joe Mil- ler, of his escape from a furious bull, which coming at him like a thunder-storm, he ran like lightning, and in scrambling over the fence tore his breeches as if heaven and earth were coming together.—N. Herald.

West Point.—Lieut. Colonel De Russey, of the U. States Engineer Corps, one of the earliest and most distinguished claves of the military school at West Point, has been ap- pointed Superintendent of that institution in the place of Col. Thayer, resigned. Col. Thayer, notwithstanding his resignation, does not retire from the service, but is to be employed at some other station.

Evening Post. The Methodist Protestant Congregation at Norfolk being unable to procure a more elig- ible situation for a house of worship, with- out incurring a greater expense than their means would justify, have purchased the Norfolk Theatre, and intend to erect in its place a neat and commodious temple de- dicated to the service of the Almighty. Though clearly a measure of necessity with them, and not of design, they have thus effected, they trust, a most important conversion.

Mr. Audubon returned to this City yes- terday.—From him we learn, and it affords us pleasure to state the fact, that within the last six months more than fifty subscribers have been added to his list, for his great American Work on Ornithology. These at $800 each, make the sum of $40,000. Philad. Com. Herald.

The Cathedral at Baltimore was robbed on Thursday night last—the altar having been stripped of its furniture, consisting principally of candlesticks, crucifixes, &c. to the amount of between one and two hun- dred dollars.

Suicide.—Mr. Daniel Willis, of Natchez, blew out his brains with a pistol a few days ago, on board the steamer Orleans, during her passage from New Orleans to his own home. He had spent in gaming a considerable sum of money belonging to another.

Convention Question.—It will be recol lected, that during the last session of our State Legislature, a numerous attended meeting of persons friendly to the call of a Convention for the purpose of revising or amending the Constitution of North Caroli na, was held in this City. Amongst other Resolutions, one was adopted, requesting the Sheriffs of the several counties to open a poll at the ensuing August elections, with a view to the ascertainment of the wishes of a majority of the people of the State, as to the expediency or inexpediency of amend ing that instrument. That this request will be complied with in most of the counties, is a matter of certainty, and we see no reason why the recommendation should not be at tended to in all. At least, it is time that public attention should be drawn to the sub ject, since in so short a period the question of "Convention" or "No Convention," will be directly presented to the people for their decision. We learn that the Committee, consisting of Wm. H. Haywood, jun. Romu lus M. Saunders, Richmond M. Pearson and Thomas Deane, Esquires, upon whom, at the meeting last winter, was devolved the duty of preparing an explanatory Address to the citizens of the State, have nearly com pleted the task assigned them. This Ad dress, when published, will pave the way for a dispassionate consideration and dis cussion of the important subject.
It is a principle which lies at the foundation of all our institutions, political and civil, that the will of the majority shall govern.
We are therefore glad that the state of pub lic opinion on this point is to be tested. If the people believe that defects exist in the Constitution, of sufficient magnitude to re quire amendment, let the proper steps be taken to ensure the execution of the popu lar will. If on the other hand, they are sat isfied with things as they are, and think it better to "bear with ills we have, than fly to others we know not of," let them so express themselves through the ballot-box. Until the question is disposed of in some way, our State will be at a stand as regards improve ment, and to stand still is generally to re trograde.
Cession of Tennessee.—From the same Journal, that we take the foregoing, and in the same year, we find the vote in the Sen ate on the bill to cede Tennessee to the U nited States. It seemed to be intimated, if not openly declared, in the debate which occurred on our Legislature on the Appropria tion bill, that the Cession Act was the re sult of bargain and intrigue; but this au thentic record shows such an imputation to be well-founded, the vote being any thing but a party one:—
The following counties voted for the bill, viz: Carteret, Bertie, Halifax, Hertford, Hawkins, Davidson, Caswell, Chatham, Gates, Perquimans, Pitt, Nash, Pasquotank, Lincoln, Hyde, Martin, Robeson, Jones, Wayne, Surry, Sumner, Tyrrell, Tennes see, Washington, Moore, Randolph, Ire dell, Brunswick, Greene and Dobbs.— AYES 30.
The counties voting agt the bill, were Anson, Cumberland, Rowan, Montgomery, New Hanover, Sampson, Guilford, North ampton, Wilkes, Mecklenburg, Rutherford, Bladen and Burke.—NOES 13, ANSERT 16.
In addition to the evidence furnished by this vote, to rebut the charge of a bargain, we find that three years before the Cession actually took place, an implied pledge was given by the Legislature that they would sation it. In the Journal of 1786, a Re port appears from the Committee to whom were referred sundry petitions on the sub ject, which concludes as follows:—"Your Committee report, that although a separa tion is at this time impracticable, yet, when ever the wealth and the numbers of the citi zens on the Western waters so much in crease as to make the same necessary, then they are free to say, that a separation may take place upon friendly and reciprocal terms, and under certain compacts and stip ulations." The Report was read and con curred in.
Note.—Washington and Greene were not the counties now existing under those names. They were not established until the succeeding year.
The counties in Italics were Western counties.
NEWSPAPERS.—An Editor of a Newspa per lately fell in company with a respecta ble farmer, who, it appeared was returning from town, where he had contracted for the sale of 500 bushels of wheat at 75 cents per bushel. Amongst other subjects the con versation turned on newspapers, in the course of which the farmer acknowledged that he did not take any newspaper regularly, int imating that he could not well afford it.— Upon which the editor said, he thought he could convince him, that instead of a new paper being an expense to him, it would be a means of improving his circumstances.— The farmer could not see how this could be.
Why, rejoined the Editor, you have this day sold your 500 bushels of wheat for 75 cents a bushel; and if you had taken the newspa per which circulates amongst many of your neighbors, you might have received 81 cents for it, (showing him an advertisement offer ing that price), which would have increased your receipts, in this single transaction, thirty dollars, and would have paid for your newspaper for ten years!

Canals produced the last year, cheap as the rates of transportation are, a revenue greatly exceeding a million of Dollars.
But the primary consideration with the people of North Carolina should be, the in creased value which communications by Rail Roads would inevitably produce upon the landed interest of the country and the con sequent stimulus the action of commerce would doubtless create upon industry and enterprise.
Influence of a Rail road.—The last Nor folk papers inform us, that three lots were sold in Portsmouth, Va., on the 30th ult. at the following prices, viz: one at $2510, one at $2632, and one at $2808. The largest of these lots measures only 22 feet front, running back 40 feet. The houses on the lots were not included in the sale, but at the expiration of the term for which the land was leased, may be taken at a fair valuation.— Three years ago, the same lots might have been purchased for less than one half, if not for one fourth of the above prices.
Let our people reflect upon the effect which the commencement of the Cape Fear and Yadkin Rail Road would immediately have upon the value of their town lots: Let every individual upon the line of the road consider how much his land would be appreciated in value, (to say nothing of the reduction in the cost of transporting his produce to market) and say whether they will permit this last hope to die without a struggle. There is yet wealth enough in the country immediately in terested in the scheme, to accomplish it; but if it is now permitted to fail, who can tell when another effort will be made?
The Superior Court for this county com menced its session yesterday—Judge Martin presiding. The case of Seaborn, charged with setting fire to the store of Mr. Richard Smith in Raleigh, by which a whole square was burnt, will probably come up on Thurs day. A number of citizens of Raleigh are here as witnesses.
Besides the above, we understand there are several other capital cases to be tried—a very unusual state of things in our county.
We cannot condescend to notice the vul garity of the Cheraw Republican—not even to set it right in some matters of fact about which it is wrong. We have stricken the miserable affair from our exchange list.
Virginia Elections.—The following is a full list of the members elected to the House of Representatives of the next Congress, viz: Messrs. Loyal, Mason, Archer, Ghoshon, Randolph, Davenport, Claiborne, Taylor, Chinn, Stevenson, Gordon, Patton, Mercer, Lucas, Beale, Moore, Fulton, McComas, Allen, Wilson, and Wise. Those whose names are in Italics are new members, con sisting of more than one half of the entire Delegation.
The Lexington "Union" states, "that the changes in the representation of Virginia in the next Congress of the U. States are some what remarkable. The whole of Western Virginia has undergone a total change.— Every District West of the Blue Ridge sends a new member—and men who at no former period have been in Congress." A Veteran.—An old Revolutionary worthy of Chatham County, who visits this place reg ularly to receive his pension, and who is now in the 77th year of his age, performed his last journey during the past week, a dis tance of 72 miles, on foot, and was but two days in accomplishing it. When we saw him, he was about to start on his return home in the same way.
Navigation of Cape Fear.—The follow ing, (says the Salem Reporter), is a short, but interesting account of the navigation on the Cape Fear River above Fayetteville, ex tracted from a letter received of a friend of ours, near Jamestown, Guilford county:
"The Cape Fear Navigation Stock is rather on the rise; boats are running to Haywood, conveying merchandise, &c. at half the price of wagon ing, and are not able, for want of hands, to con vey half the produce offered; thousands of barrels of flour, hundreds of bales of cotton, and hog heads of tobacco, are in application, without get ting conveyance; they have to be conveyed in wagons for want of hands to work the boats.
"You may mention to your paper, that hands disposed to stay and follow the business for some time, can earn by working the boat on the river from $7 to $8 the first, and perhaps the second month; afterwards, good sober hands, command $10 per month."
Governor Swain returned to this city on Tuesday last, from his visit to Buncombe county.—Rul. Star.
Launch.—The Schooner Robert Edens, owned by Messrs. John S. James, & Co. and Mr. James Cameron, was launched from the yard of the latter on Saturday last.
Wilmington People's Press.
The Bridge.—We learn that the Com mittee have contracted with Mr. Charles Montague to build the Bridge across the North East River, to be completed by the first of November.—Jb.
A memorial is in a state of forwardness, to be transmitted to the Secretary of War, pray ing that a survey be made of the Wackamaw, to be laid before the next Congress, when application will be made for the purpose of obtaining an appropriation for cutting a can al, forming a connexion with the great At lantic road.—Jb.
Gen. Jackson's first appointment to office.
—The subjoined extract from the Senate Journal of the Legislature of North Caroli na, at its session of 1789, records the first appointment ever conferred upon General Jackson. The reader will bear in mind, that this was before the cession of Tennes see, though that event took place the same year:
"Mr. Graham and Mr. Montgomery, from the Committee appointed to conduct the balloting for Attorney-General of Meru District, reported that they had performed the duty, and that An drew Jackson is duly elected Attorney-General for said District."—Raleigh Register.

At the last term of the Superior Court for New-Hanover County, Negro Edward, be longing to Mr. West, of Virginia, but for some years a runaway and recently acting in the capacity of steward on board the Brig Fisher, was convicted of concealing on board said Brig, with intent to take beyond the limits of the State, a girl belonging to Nathan Green, and sentenced to be hung on the 31st of May. An exception was taken by the prisoner's counsel to a point of law in the judge's charge, on which an appeal was granted.—People's Press.
Fire.—On Friday night last the dwelling House of Mr. Nathaniel M. Alston, was reduced to ashes with all the valuable fur niture it contained, together with the wear ing apparel of the family. This is the se cond time that Mr. Alston has had his House burnt within the last 18 months; circumstan ces conspire to produce the suspicion that this fire was not the result of accident, but the work of an unprincipled incendiary. Mr.
Alston and his family had been absent sev eral days from his home and was absent at the time the accident occurred and the House was securely locked.—Central Reflector.
Our Rail Road, we learn, is progressing rapidly. Nearly the whole of the rails are now laid down, and the road will be com pleted, we understand, soon after the recep tion of a quantity of iron from England, which is shortly expected.
The receipts upon that part of the road now in operation, it is said, upon good au thority, realize 12 per cent upon the cost of its construction.—Courier.
The Richmond Enquirer, under the head of "Results and Prospects," says that "there will be a decided and overwhelming major ity in the next Legislature against Nullifi cation. Virginia is true to the back-bone.
She goes against the mad politics of S. Car olina. She is devoted to the Rights and to the Union of the States."

FOR THE OBSERVER.
Mr. Hale: Your correspondent "C." has burst upon us such a sudden blaze of light as is calculated, if not to blind, at least to aston ish! But are the public prepared to appre ciate and receive these new discoveries? At least they will inquire where he kindled his torch. To notice them in order, first, the honest, conscientious dealers in spirits (I hope if "C" is one of them he never sells water for spirits), are persecuted. And for what does this intolerant spirit pursue them?
For doing what is not only in itself harmless, but according to "C's" doctrine, a very mer itorious act.
If indeed, Religion has done such incalculable mischief in the world, surely the men who are most successfully engaged in counteracting its influence, are highly praiseworthy, and it is intolerance in the extreme to persecute them. He next instructs all, even Satan himself, that they have only to lay a side malignant intention in the acts of temptation to avoid condemnation; where he received the ad ditional account beyond what the inspired penman affords us, with respect to the condemnation and sentence of the grand adversary, we are left to conjecture. That some instances occur in which the intention only makes the guilt, I am free to ac knowledge to "C"—as, for instance, a blundering apothecary's shop boy sends you arsenic instead of a harmless medicine; should fatal consequence be the result, both you and the careless boy stand ac quiescent as to the guilt of murder. But this is by no means a parallel case with the spirit sellers; they do not kill by accident, so to speak, but are fully aware of the awful consequences that follow in due course the trade in which they are engaged.
But as we learn from "C" that they may be gui less of any bad intention, may we not inquire what is their real motive, and but for which they would renounce the traffic. I believe it will be conced ed by all, that it is nothing more or less than the acquisition of gain; and herein doubtless, they are as innocent as the robber or the counterfeiter, nei ther of whom had any particular malevolent in tention, but only "found it inconvenient to be poor." The man who suffered so severe an ignominious punishment for only stealing a gold watch, ought surely to have been acquitted upon Scriptural au thority, according to "C," as his judges could ne ver point to chapter and verse in that Holy Book, where we are in so many words, or "explicitly" forbidden to steal gold watches. His historic fact as respects Ireland, I must, for one, have clearer proof, before I can believe that efficient actors in promoting the cause of Temperance, are the re al authors of the dreadful calamities which over spread that unhappy country, at least, there is room to hope if such have been the accounts received by "C," that they are exaggerated.
SENEX.
FOR THE OBSERVER.
Mr. Hale: To most persons, I expect it will appear unnecessary to take any notice of your correspondent "C." But I desire to ask him, to read the latter part of his commu nication—to reflect upon the charge he has made against the promoters of Temperance Societies in Ireland. He speaks of their moving at the head of a band of ruffians—of their entering the houses of those who are in the very agonies of hunger and despair; and regardless of suffering humanity, order titles to be collected at the point of the bayonet.— It may be, that your Correspondent is cor rect in what he says about another country—I am unable to contradict him—but I doubt.
He ventures to insinuate, that America is in danger, from the friends of Temperance So cieties. But Mr. Editor, I suspect that "C" is one of those "who do not take the Bible for their guide in this matter"—and that he would be unwilling to have the test "by their fruits ye shall know them," to be the ground upon which he is to establish his charge.— Should he on reflection, feel unable to sustain it, I hope that he will acknowledge it. If he endeavours to establish what he appears to me to insinuate, and succeeds, where may I expect to find a friend to protect me and my dear children from the insults and cru elities of the intemperate? I cannot confide in "C," or those who are engaged in the very business of making my friends drunkards and causing me so much distress and sor row.

Anecdote of a Prussian.—Hans once availed a watch. Luckless was the man who took it in. By day and night was the chronometer of Hans a source of exquisite annoyance to the money lender. Hans entertained a notion, which in a theoretical view, was by no means extravagant; but, practically applied, demanded of him the sacrifice of the watch to the service of U. S. Hans reasoned thus:—"Mr. ——— having the watch, surely I have a right to call at any time ask the hour." And this right he never lost an opportunity of enforcing. Thus for the shop lay a few dollars from his home—at morning and night he would call, with his one question, "What's the hour?" and he would knock, knock, knock, the bell, bump the door, bang the door, at length the night-capped pawnbroker threw up the window, and thrust forth his head—there, like the night raven, was Hans. Pop was the question—"What's o'clock?" At times by some subtle invention, he would inflict the question as the sting of a narrative—as thus:—"Mr. ———, my main life is just got broke up; and I'm down in the dumps. Pible ven the children are poor, what'll you tell me—what's o'clock?" At other times, his wife, or his "littler poppy" was ill, and having to take medicine at a certain hour, he just begged to know "what's o'clock?" Mercury—how surely he is Hans' tutelary deity!—and how long this war would have been going on had Hans not been had not a most fortunate circumstance put an end to the evil. His shop was at night brought to the ground, and with it was irrevocably lost the "family watch" of Hans Rutzlus.
